

RALEIGH IN BRIEF.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS IN AND AROUND THE CAPITAL.

Short Items of News Gathered on the Fly by the Chronicle's Reporters.

Mr. J. L. Ludlow, of Winston, spent yesterday in the city.

Fire escapes are being put up on several buildings in the city.

Three sheriffs made full settlements at the State treasury yesterday.

Gates county contributed one convict to the penitentiary yesterday.

Davenport's saw mills at Pactolus were burned last night, the loss being $3,000, with no insurance.

The street sprinklers might have put in some good work again yesterday morning, but they didn't.

Last night the work of putting the hand-loom new Yale lock boxes in the postoffice began. It will be completed to-day.

Mr. Fletcher Riddle, a former Raleigh boy, who has numerous warm friends here, is visiting his relatives and acquaintances in the city.

The North State Music Company of this city is about to open a branch office in Oxford. Mr. W. S. Uzzle will be in charge.

The alumni of Peace Institute are moving to organize an association for mutual pleasure, and for furthering the interests of their Alma Mater.

Judge Spier Whitaker arrived in the city yesterday from Gates county, where he held the spring term of the Superior court. Next week he presides at Hertford county court.

Mr. James H. Southgate, of Durham, one of the most prominent insurance men in the country, is in the city. He has perhaps the finest and largest insurance office in the South.

The new Union depot site is growing up in grass. This is the first instance in which the progressive railroad companies which propose to build that structure have let grass grow under their feet.

A branch of the Order of Tontu will be organized here next week. It provides benefits for members during sickness, gives a handsome premium in case of being totally disabled, and has a matured policy at the end of seven years.

The city fathers have provided rustic benches for Nash square. Good. They will see that this action on their part will be appreciated. The CHRONICLE thanks Alderman John W. Horton for recommending and pushing the matter forward.

The CHRONICLE yesterday received an application for a programme of the "War of the Roses," from Little Rock, Arkansas. The application was from Mr. J. H. Shinn, chief clerk in the office of the Secretary of State, who says: "Our ladies want to do something for our Confederate (Ark.) home."

The republican clerk of the Superior court of Wake county, Mr. C. D. Upchurch, is reported as having said that his last election cost him $5,500, and that he expects it to cost him $5,000 to be re-elected this year.—Statewide Landmark. If he spends $10,000 this year he cannot be elected. Wake democrats this year can neither be bought or ejected.

EDUCATIONAL LECTURE

By Prof. McIver at the Deaf and Dumb and Blind Institution.

During the past three days the CHRONICLE has heard much very favorable comment on an address which was delivered by Prof. C. D. McIver, on Tuesday night, in the chapel of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind. The teachers of the city and quite a number of the friends of education were present, and they were so much impressed with the address and appreciated it so highly that they sent up a unanimous request that he would deliver another lecture on the same line at his earliest opportunity.

The result of this address has been a movement among the teachers to organize a permanent association, the purpose of which shall be to hold meetings for mutual improvement, and to discuss topics on professional teaching. This move tends in the right direction; and the teachers say that if they can have such lectures as Professor McIver has given them they are quite sure that the association would be something by which they would be greatly benefited.

THE PAST WARM WINTER.

How Some People Must Explain Away the Reasons They Gave for It.

Those savants who explained that the high temperature during the past winter was caused by the shifting of the gulf stream nearer to the coast will find it hard to reconcile this theory with the present weather. On Thursday the temperature at Bismarck, N. D., was 80, while it was 48 at Raleigh, 64 at Jacksonville and 68 at Brownsville, Texas. These extremes in temperature will probably be followed by cyclonic disturbances in Iowa and Illinois during to-day.

In order to be consistent the gentlemen who supposed the gulf stream to be flowing nearer the coast during the winter months will now have to say it is flowing up the St. Lawrence into the great lakes.

A STRANGE CONTRAST.

The Marvellous Weather of the West. The reports received by Mr. C. F. Von Heruan, the weather observer, last night indicated a severe storm in Minnesota. At St. Paul, Minn., the barometer had fallen to 29.32 inches while the temperature reached a maximum of 82 degrees. The wind was blowing 30 miles an hour from the south at Chicago at 8 p. m. last night (11th). A few hundred miles west of St. Paul, at Bismarck, Dak., the wind was from the north, temperature 36, with a snow storm, a most remarkable contrast.

Ex Governor Cornell, of New York, is in financial difficulty and various judgments have been secured against him by banks on promissory notes.

COMING AND GOING.

Some of the Folks You Know and Their Doings.

Mr. C. G. Bailey, of Lexington, was at the Yarboro yesterday.

Mr. J. H. Mills, Superintendent of the Thomasville Orphanage, is here.

Miss Louisa Wilson, of Morganton, is on a visit to her sister, Mrs. H. B. Battle.

Mr. Geo. B. Carter, formerly a resident here, but now of St. Louis, is in the city.

Mr. C. W. Raney and Miss Lalla Raney, of Kithers, are the guests of Mr. R. B. Raney.

Mrs. Jas. Webb and Mr. J. H. Webb, Jr., and wife, of Hillsboro, registered at the Yarboro yesterday.

Mr. Claude Barbee is here on a visit to his brother, Mr. E. B. Barbee, and is greeting his many friends.

Judge Boykin, popular in Raleigh as everywhere, is in the city and took in the musical entertainment last night and enjoyed it.

Prof. A. Bellezza is in the city and will begin a school in dancing here next week. He is quite well known in many towns of this State, and has been given numbers of commendatory and congratulatory letters.

Durham sent a large delegation to the city yesterday, including the artists who participated in the splendid concert last night and a number of visitors. Among those who arrived on the noon train were: Misses Leslie Southgate, Annie and Ella Peay, Minnie Harper, Blanche Morgan, Mary Wall, Lillie Parrish, Lillie Lockhart, Annie Watts, Lizzie Morehead, Lottie Tomlinson, Mamie Lyon and Nina Southgate; Mrs. E. J. Parrish, Mrs. Geo. W. Watts, Mrs. R. E. Lyon; Messrs. Vernon Darnell, R. G. Shepherd and Lamar Gannon.

Death, the Reaper, Still is Reaping.

In this city yesterday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock, at Mrs. Evans', on North McDowell street, Mrs. Ida Rosenthal, aged 55 years. She was a sister of Mr. G. Rosenthal, of this city. She leaves six children to deeply feel and mourn an irreparable loss.

The remains will be taken to Goldsboro for interment.

Mrs. Sallie Branch Vann died at her home in Wake Forest last Saturday. She was a most excellent young woman, of a bright, happy disposition, as lovely in character as she was fair of face, and was greatly loved and admired by all who knew her. The Gold Leaf says: As Miss Sallie Branch she had frequently visited Henderson, being closely related to Mrs. Theo. Stallings, and was well known and esteemed by many of our citizens. A little more than a year ago she married Mr. Macon Vann, of Wake Forest. She was a native of Enfield, Halifax county, and was about 22 years of age.

Weather Forecast.

For Virginia and North Carolina, fair and much warmer; southwesterly winds, becoming higher on the coast.

Raleigh yesterday: Maximum temperature 64; minimum temperature 37; rainfall 0.00. Local forecast for Raleigh and vicinity to day: Much warmer; fair weather; southwesterly winds; Sunday warmer and fair.

Her Son Got it at Swindell's.

Mrs. Vanduyke said Mrs. Alice Gettetter, did you meet my son as you came by Metropolitan hall? No, madam; I did not. When I came by there there was no one standing there but a gentleman and a drummer. Neither of them was your son. Indeed one of them was; the gentleman was my son. He and the drummer were waiting for the doors to be opened to see the King's Daughters. You see, my son had been down to Swindell's to-day and looking through the clothing department he was so thoroughly taken up with this suit of clothes that he just bought it without thinking of extravagance. When my son is diked out at that Prince Albert suit and that stuff hat, kid gloves and cane it does make such a noticeable difference in his appearance. Mrs. Vanduyke, do you know my son is not given to much talking, but since he has got to going to Swindell's Ricket Store it has brought him out wonderfully. He's going to get married. Oh, yes, my son's going to marry Sudy Enbank. You see it came in this way: Sudy did not care much for my son till he got to going to Swindell's right then he began to improve, and Sudy she began to think he was good looking, and when he made his appearance with that stylish suit of clothes that suited it, and she proposed at once, and my son, without giving the matter sufficient thought, acquiesced. So my son gets a new suit and a wife by going to Swindell's. What wonderful changes are brought about by going to Swindell's. Largest stock child's clothes in the city at SWINDELL'S.

THE CONCERT

GIVEN UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE KING'S DAUGHTERS. LAST NIGHT.

Capt. Frank Cunningham in Song—Laughing and Weeping Music by Sweet and Beautiful Artists.

The concert which was announced to be given under the auspices of the King's Daughters of Christ church, last night, drew one of the most brilliant and cultured audiences to Metropolitan hall that ever assembled in Raleigh. It had been given out that the musical talent of Durham, Richmond and Raleigh would combine to present a delightful entertainment, and the knowledge that all these cities could provide musical artists of natural and cultivated talent of the highest order raised the anticipations of the public to a phenomenal degree—and those anticipations were not disappointed.

As the audience assembled the following programme was put into their hands:

PROGRAMME.

Part First.

1. Piano Solo—Rhapsody No. 12 (Liszt), Miss ANNIE D. PEAY, of Durham.

2. Vocal Solo—I am Waiting (Birch), MR. FRANK W. CUNNINGHAM, of Richmond.

3. Piano Solo—Arabesque (Andre), Miss LILLIE PARRISH, of Durham.

4. Vocal Duet—Oh! that We Two were Maying (Charles Kingsley), From the Saint's Tragedy, Mrs. J. J. THOMAS and Capt. E. J. HARDIN, of Raleigh.

5. Piano Solo—Tarentelle (Lorenz), Miss MARY S. WALL, of Durham.

6. Vocal Solo—L'incontro (Arditi), MISS LESSIE M. SOUTHGATE, of Durham.

7. Piano Accompaniment by MR. VERNON DARNALL, of Durham.

Intermission.

During which the Prize Essays were read by MISS SOUTHGATE.

Part Second.

1. Vocal Solo—Tell Me with Your Eyes (Smith), MR. FRANK W. CUNNINGHAM, of Richmond.

2. Piano Solo—Il Trovatore (Hoffman), Miss ANNIE LOUISE WATTS, of Durham.

3. Reading—A Selection, MISS LESSIE M. SOUTHGATE.

4. Piano Solo—Home, Sweet Home (Mazette), Miss ANNIE D. PEAY.

5. Kluder Symphonie—A Merry Sleigh Ride (Chwatal).

DESCRIPTIVE.

Piano, Misses Southgate and Peay; Violin, Mr. Shepherd; French Horn, Mr. Darnall; Drum, Miss Parrish; Castanets, Miss Blanche Morgan; Triangle, Miss Lizzie Morehead; Bongophone and Nightingale, Miss Minnie Harper; Sleigh wheels, Miss Annie Watts; Sleighwheels, Miss Lottie Tomlinson and Mamie Lyon; Whip and Poppans, Miss Mary Wall; Whistle, Miss Peay.

The programme was presented with a patios and spirit which made it delightful. Ecstasy after ecstasy was given and responded to, which protracted the programme far into the night, and which prevents the notice the concert merits in this issue of the CHRONICLE. The story of how the young artists played, how Capt. Cunningham sang, how thrillingly and impressively was Miss Southgate's recitation of a selection from "Hawatha," and how much the great audience enjoyed the rendition of every number, will be given in the Sunday issue.

When Part First of the programme had been completed, Miss Leslie Southgate read the prize compositions on music by young ladies under fifteen years old.

It was announced that Miss Lillie Parrish, of Durham, had been awarded the first prize (a handsome guitar), and that Miss Blanche Morgan, of Durham, had been given the second prize (a course of lessons in any one of the musical schools).

Misses Annie Peay, Mary Wall, Annie Watts and Lillie Parrish, the lady artists who participated in the rendition of the concert, are all under fifteen years of age; but the music they rendered was equal in delightfulness to any ever given here.

Raleigh's Thanks.

For the entire city of Raleigh, the CHRONICLE expresses its sense of gratitude to Miss Southgate, Col. Cunningham, and the others who gave us an evening of rare unexcelled enjoyment. We are in debt to Durham—so deeply in debt that we can never hope to pay what we owe. To our Durham friends we will only say: Draw on us for anything you want, at any time. The draft will be promptly honored.

The Banquet and Ball.

After the concert, all the visitors and a large party of ladies and gentlemen were invited to the Yarboro House as the guests of Mr. R. B. Raney, to whose management our people are mainly indebted for the concert. Miss Southgate received and charmed all our people, as did also Mr. Cunningham. The banquet was a feast of good things served in elegant style. After the banquet, there was a ball, and as the CHRONICLE goes to press, the young folks are tripping the light fantastic.

Sunday's Chronicle

will contain more, and give a just meed of praise to Miss Southgate's wonderful talent, and to the excellent singing of Col. Cunningham, and the artistic touch of the young ladies from Durham.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

Mr. Glenn Brown, of Washington City, is in Winston visiting relatives and friends. Mr. Brown is an architect of reputation, and is a descendant of one of our oldest families, being a grandson of Col. Redford Brown, who was for years a prominent State Senator in the days of auld lang syne, and a kinsman of Major T. J. Brown and R. B. Glenn, Esq., of this city.—Twin City Daily.

We believe the Weekly office has the oldest printer in the State. He is 68 years old and began work at the business actively in 1836. His age and physical infirmity are weighing upon him, but he works as punctually as the younger members of the craft. His life has been an eventful one, and were he disposed to commit his reminiscences to paper he could add a valuable production to the history of his profession in this State and Virginia. We refer to Mr. E. A. Howard.—Webster's Reidsville Weekly.

THE COMMERCIAL WORLD.

New York, April 11.—Messrs. Hubbard, Price & Co. in their cotton circular to-night say: The firm tone of the spot market in Liverpool and the light interior movement caused a movement to cover on the part for spinners' use and this brought the small short interest in the market to cover. This movement was influenced to some degree by the bill now pending before Congress to abolish all transactions for future delivery of cotton, either by the manufacturer against his growing crop, the manufacturer against his stock of un-dried goods, or to procure his supply of cotton over several months in advance, and finally, to prevent any speculation.

A feature of the situation is the absence of all premiums on the old crop and the stock in New York is now being carried at the expense of the owners. To-day's advance appears to have closed the local short interest and the market will now depend upon the actual demand from spinners abroad, who can hardly enter the market to secure their needed supplies without advancing the prices.

Estimated receipts to-morrow at New Orleans are 500 bales, and it is thought the plantation movement will not reach 10,000 bales this week, because of the heavy shipments from the interior towns.

Receipts at our ports to-day estimated at 2,500 bales, against 3,942 last year. The spot market is steady at 1-16 advance; middling uplands 11 9-16; sales 384 bales. Transactions in futures 4,000 bales.

Futures closed 3 to 10 points higher as follows:
